

Attention College of Education Students And Bay Area Educators
Summer 2010 Study Abroad in Hong Kong/China

Educational Practices in Transnational Spaces
ISED 891

The purpose of the course is to enhance students' understanding of globalization and its effects on California education. This summer course, offered in collaboration with the University of Hong Kong, will enable students to critically examine the trans-Pacific Chinese diaspora and recent educational developments in China, and to conduct cross-cultural observation and study. Students will be able to combine theories and praxis by directly observing, comparing, and contrasting educational practices in the Bay Area with those in Southern China – one of the most rapidly developing areas of the world. Students will receive 3 semester units of graduate credit.

The student fee for this course will be $2,500. We are anticipating receiving Scholarship funding to augment some of the costs of the trip.
